

“I’d recommend NinjaFlex® to anyone looking for something different in their prints”

Wei Liu, Chief Buyer
iMakr, London, England

iMakr.com is an online store selling a wide range of 3D printers and materials, 3D art and 3D scanners. iMakr also operates the world’s largest 3D printing store covering two floors, located at 79 Clerkenwell Road, in Central London.

The iMakr Store recently celebrated its first birthday, and prides itself on catering to all, from 3D printing pros to newcomers.

iMakr buyers were introduced to NinjaFlex by the UK-based Fenner Drives team, and have been using it successfully for about a month. “The NinjaFlex is a great new addition to our filament range, and I can happily endorse it and the results we have obtained,” notes Wei Liu, chief buyer for iMakr. “I’d recommend NinjaFlex to anyone looking for something different in their prints, with the vibrant colors bringing something special to the flexible filament scene.”

The iMakr Store sells best-in-class 3D printers, 3D scanners, filaments, including NinjaFlex, finishing solutions and 3D printed objects by renowned designers. The iMakr Store also offers Mini-You, a 3D full-body scan and print service, as well as training, classes, workshops and demonstrations.

Users can download free 3D printable objects utilizing NinjaFlex filament at My Mini Factory.
